

THANK YOU NOTES

Stories of Connectional Giving

www.iaumc.org/tyn

PICTURED ROCKS

Gary Wilson, the director of the Pictured Rocks Camp and Retreat Center near Monticello, recently heard about a preteen boy who attended Sunday School all the time as a small child but more recently was not really around much. The boy decided to go to camp with a friend, and the results were amazing.

"I get it now!" the youngster explained to his mother after returning home from Pictured Rocks. The week at camp with other Christian boys and their counselor helped him understand how to live his faith. He was finally able to make the connection between the Bible stories he learned as a child and his life as a middle-school student today.

"I get it now!" describes the moments we all have had when we take time out of our busy daily schedules and allow God to teach us within our Christian community. And those moments are still available to us.

"Thanks for helping make this 'I get it now' moment possible through your monthly giving," Gary wrote. "Appointments support not only the camping program but also the camper-ships" that help kids get to camp each summer.

Learn more about camping opportunities at www.picturedrocks.org.

THANK YOU NOTES

Stories of Connectional Giving

www.iaumc.org/tyn

PICTURED ROCKS

Gary Wilson, the director of the Pictured Rocks Camp and Retreat Center near Monticello, recently heard about a preteen boy who attended Sunday School all the time as a small child but more recently was not really around much. The boy decided to go to camp with a friend, and the results were amazing.

"I get it now!" the youngster explained to his mother after returning home from Pictured Rocks. The week at camp with other Christian boys and their counselor helped him understand how to live his faith. He was finally able to make the connection between the Bible stories he learned as a child and his life as a middle-school student today.

"I get it now!" describes the moments we all have had when we take time out of our busy daily schedules and allow God to teach us within our Christian community. And those moments are still available to us.

"Thanks for helping make this 'I get it now' moment possible through your monthly giving," Gary wrote. "Appointments support not only the camping program but also the camper-ships" that help kids get to camp each summer.

Learn more about camping opportunities at www.picturedrocks.org.

