Commission on the Status and Role of Women (COSROW)

The biblical mandate to care for the widow is one of the many facets of the ministry of the Commission on the Status and Role of Women or COSROW.

The commission recently published an update of the clergy spouse booklet, The Guide: What Do I Do If...? This resource provides a wealth of information about health and pension benefits available to spouses of pastors who may become widowed or divorced — among other topics.

COSROW works to encourage full and equal participation of women in the life of the Church, both by caring for women in vulnerable life circumstances and by celebrating women in leadership.

Their Ambassador Award was created to recognize individuals who are committed to the full inclusion of women, especially those who are on the margins of the church and society. The award honor advocates who stand with women in the midst of their pain and joy, catalysts who inspire women to become leaders, and monitors who act to promote the involvement of women in every aspect of the Church.

All of these ministries are supported by gifts from local churches through apportionments. Learn more at www.iaumc.org/pages/detail/1151.
